PROVO, Utah (July 20, 2007)

On Senior Night and the final game of the regular season, the BYU men's soccer team played to a 1-1 draw against the Colorado Rapids U-23 on Saturday in Provo.

"Our hope is that every time we step onto the field we get better," said head coach Chris Watkins. "I'm glad to see that the guys continue to prove that they're getting better every time they play. Tonight was a good example of how the team can come together and pull out a win."

The first goal of the game was scored by Steven Fellows in the 6th minute when he took a cross from Zack DeFrancis and kicked the ball into the net.

The Cougars outshot the Surge by thirteen, but didn't finish a second goal until there was only one minute left in the game. Hugh VanWagenen put a ball behind the Surge defense and Daniel McKinley ran onto it and slid it into the back of the net.

The Cougars' final game of the regular season is against the Colorado Rapids tomorrow night at 7:30 p.m. at BYU's South Field.
